

THE TOP 3 MCU SUPERHEROES

#1 Doctor Strange: The Sorcerer Supreme himself gets the top spot of the MCU's most powerful superheroes because he has it all. Flight? Check. Ability to conjure shields? Check. Ability to create portals? Check. Ability to place himself and others within the mirror realm and then abandon them there if he so chooses? Check. Ability to enter the astral realm for extended periods of time so that he can slow down time and figure out the best strategy for killing another hero? Check. Ability to steal energy from the dark realm to make himself and whomever else he wants immortal? Check. Possesses a cloak that can literally come to life and fight his battles for him? Check. And I know some of you will argue that Scarlet Witch is way better but I'm ranking the doctor number one because we've known him longer and he has more of a reputation as the most powerful being in his universe.

#2 Scarlet Witch: If Vision is essentially a god, and Scarlet Witch is, well, a witch, then witches are apparently stronger than gods in the MCU, because Scarlet Witch completely owns Vision in Civil War, thus firmly solidifying her place as the second most powerful superhero in Marvel's Cinematic Universe. Her abilities have not been thoroughly explained in any MCU film to date, but thus far, we have seen her use her telekinesis to: rip Ultron's robots apart, pull Ultron's heart out of his chest, throw Captain America through a second story window, pull poisonous gas out of the CDC building and dispose of it in the air, and throw Black Widow and Black Panther at two separate points during the airport battle.

We have also seen her create force fields strong enough to stop bullets and even contain an explosion long enough for her to move it elsewhere. Plus, she can fly and has the ability to control Vision's density, which she displayed when she completely immobilized him in Civil War before launching him several stories beneath Tony Stark's compound. Let's just say if she wanted every other hero on Earth dead, then there would be only one person strong enough to stop her.

#3 So Vision is basically a god, right? Considering the fact that he has more impressive abilities than the actual god of thunder, he's got to be. Let's run through his attributes: he has super strength (as he shows in the Age of Ultron climax when he tears apart Ultron's robots like tin foil), he can fly, he can use the Mind Stone to blast other heroes out of the sky, and can control his own density, allowing him to literally solidify himself or pass through solid objects or people. Seriously, what would have happened in Civil War if he had increased his density while inside of GiAnt-Man?.And thus he has earned his spot as number 3